

Curriculum Vitae Christian Wassmann Intl. Assoc. AIA

Christian Wassmann's architectural designs present discoveries originating from the interconnections of the arts. Wassmann and his international team develop designs that are influenced by the vibrancy of urban life, art, geometry, and the cosmos. The projects of the Studio range from buildings, interiors, ephemeral site-specific installations, exhibitions, furniture and lamps. The Studio has designed projects such as the celebrated East Village Radio station, a performance venue for Michael Portnoy at dOCUMANTA (13), and Lisson Gallery's New York building under the High Line. The studio has just completed the Sun Path House, a ground-up residence in Miami Beach that has been featured in W Magazine, PIN-UP, Wallpaper, and WIRED Magazine's Top 19 Buildings of 2015.

Wassmann's career began in Switzerland at age 15 when he started an apprenticeship as an architectural draftsman. Since 1997 he has collaborated with like-minded artists and architects, and in 2005 established a private practice. In 2010, he received the Swiss Art Award under the architecture category, and in 2012 the Studio won the AIA New York New Practice Award. His design objects are represented by R&Company and Frederieke Taylor Gallery.
